

On Sunday, October 23rd, Faith Presbyterian Church highlighted our tenth year of participation in the West Valley Habitat for Humanity program.

Cassandra Jarles, Manager of Faith Relations for Habitat, was present to introduce the Kurl/Reng family at the 10:00 a.m. worship service. There are three members in this tenth family for which Faith has helped provide a home. Bol is the father and works hard to provide a better life for his wife and daughter. Amach is the stay at home mother who cares for their one year old daughter Akuany. The family is originally from Sudan and knows the importance of working hard. Together the family enjoys visiting with friends, reading children's books to their daughter and going to the park. They are thankful to their sponsors and Habitat for the opportunity to make their dream of home ownership a reality. On Habitat Sunday the Faith quilters presented beautiful handmade quilts to the family.
